St. Andrews prepares for quilt show

The public is invited to enjoy the colorful and artistic beauty of quilts displayed in the historic church sanctuary and to participate in the charitable event. Participants receive a free t-shirt, but the registration fee is $20 and all proceeds go to support the Foodology camp and other programs at St. Andrew's. Follow Restoration Church, Bleachers For Friends and Tastefully Done Facebook pages for more information about the show and quilt registration, contact St. Andrew’s Episcopal Church, 416 S. First St., Alton.

More information about the show and quilt registration, contact St. Andrew’s Episcopal Church, 416 S. First St., Alton.

The Foodology camp is available for kids to enjoy the colorful and artistic beauty of quilts displayed in the historic church sanctuary and to participate in the charitable event. Participants receive a free t-shirt, but the registration fee is $20 and all proceeds go to support the Foodology camp and other programs at St. Andrew’s. Follow Restoration Church, Bleachers For Friends and Tastefully Done Facebook pages for more information about the show and quilt registration, contact St. Andrew’s Episcopal Church, 416 S. First St., Alton.

The public is invited to enjoy the colorful and artistic beauty of quilts displayed in the historic church sanctuary and to participate in the charitable event. Participants receive a free t-shirt, but the registration fee is $20 and all proceeds go to support the Foodology camp and other programs at St. Andrew’s. Follow Restoration Church, Bleachers For Friends and Tastefully Done Facebook pages for more information about the show and quilt registration, contact St. Andrew’s Episcopal Church, 416 S. First St., Alton.

The Foodology camp is available for kids to enjoy the colorful and artistic beauty of quilts displayed in the historic church sanctuary and to participate in the charitable event. Participants receive a free t-shirt, but the registration fee is $20 and all proceeds go to support the Foodology camp and other programs at St. Andrew’s. Follow Restoration Church, Bleachers For Friends and Tastefully Done Facebook pages for more information about the show and quilt registration, contact St. Andrew’s Episcopal Church, 416 S. First St., Alton.

The public is invited to enjoy the colorful and artistic beauty of quilts displayed in the historic church sanctuary and to participate in the charitable event. Participants receive a free t-shirt, but the registration fee is $20 and all proceeds go to support the Foodology camp and other programs at St. Andrew’s. Follow Restoration Church, Bleachers For Friends and Tastefully Done Facebook pages for more information about the show and quilt registration, contact St. Andrew’s Episcopal Church, 416 S. First St., Alton.

The Foodology camp is available for kids to enjoy the colorful and artistic beauty of quilts displayed in the historic church sanctuary and to participate in the charitable event. Participants receive a free t-shirt, but the registration fee is $20 and all proceeds go to support the Foodology camp and other programs at St. Andrew’s. Follow Restoration Church, Bleachers For Friends and Tastefully Done Facebook pages for more information about the show and quilt registration, contact St. Andrew’s Episcopal Church, 416 S. First St., Alton.