Dr. Jeff Manuel, above, and an archive photo Robert Prager, at right.

The police declared this concept of putting someone in protective custody so they could find out more information about him, like he would be in jail. Would some of the police put him in custody just to protect him. The police put him in custody just to protect him.

The police declared this concept of putting someone in protective custody so they could find out more information about him, like he would be in jail. Would some of the police put him in custody just to protect him. The police put him in custody just to protect him.

The police declared this concept of putting someone in protective custody so they could find out more information about him, like he would be in jail. Would some of the police put him in custody just to protect him. The police put him in custody just to protect him.

The police declared this concept of putting someone in protective custody so they could find out more information about him, like he would be in jail. Would some of the police put him in custody just to protect him. The police put him in custody just to protect him.

The police declared this concept of putting someone in protective custody so they could find out more information about him, like he would be in jail. Would some of the police put him in custody just to protect him. The police put him in custody just to protect him.

The police declared this concept of putting someone in protective custody so they could find out more information about him, like he would be in jail. Would some of the police put him in custody just to protect him. The police put him in custody just to protect him.

The police declared this concept of putting someone in protective custody so they could find out more information about him, like he would be in jail. Would some of the police put him in custody just to protect him. The police put him in custody just to protect him.

The police declared this concept of putting someone in protective custody so they could find out more information about him, like he would be in jail. Would some of the police put him in custody just to protect him. The police put him in custody just to protect him.

The police declared this concept of putting someone in protective custody so they could find out more information about him, like he would be in jail. Would some of the police put him in custody just to protect him. The police put him in custody just to protect him.

The police declared this concept of putting someone in protective custody so they could find out more information about him, like he would be in jail. Would some of the police put him in custody just to protect him. The police put him in custody just to protect him.

The police declared this concept of putting someone in protective custody so they could find out more information about him, like he would be in jail. Would some of the police put him in custody just to protect him. The police put him in custody just to protect him.

The police declared this concept of putting someone in protective custody so they could find out more information about him, like he would be in jail. Would some of the police put him in custody just to protect him. The police put him in custody just to protect him.

The police declared this concept of putting someone in protective custody so they could find out more information about him, like he would be in jail. Would some of the police put him in custody just to protect him. The police put him in custody just to protect him.