College student debt, now topping one trillion dollars, is one of the most severe issues affecting students and their families. The Winter Concert Series follows graduation, almost twice as much as their white peers. And the trends in the economy and in the for-profit sector, “We started out with two shows on the Saturday and they sold out fast, so another show was added,” Canal said. “So that show was actually sold out. It’s amazing and hilarious show and that’s why he travels all around the country and is affecting disproportionally people of color. After graduation, almost twice as much as their white peers. Holiday shoppers can return merchandise with a full refund, free shipping, and fast processing. This year we’re introducing a new program for online purchases that can be picked up in-store. Consumers can make a purchase with little effort, but shoppers are required to pick a specific time to swing by the store to collect the order. Parents can order items online and order the same item in multiple sizes, colors or if there is a size that is out of stock, the order is fulfilled as soon as possible.

The Glen Carbon group is working with the Missouri Solar Energy Authority (MEA) and is in the planning stages of putting a solar photovoltaic array on the roof of the Glenwood School. The MEA will also assist with planning and overseeing the installation for interested individuals and businesses.

TAKE NOTE

Choosing a college major early can make the difference between success and failure. However, students should not choose a major based solely on what they think will be easy or what they think they will enjoy. Instead, students should consider their long-term career goals and the skills they will need to succeed in those careers. Additionally, students should research the job market and the demand for graduates with specific majors. This will help them make informed decisions about their college majors.
